

BasaOne 2.5 development nears completion

Published on 02/15/07

BasaOne 2.5 has been under development for over a year and will be released in march. This new update of the Integrated Web Application Development Environment will include many new features and be a free upgrade for current customers.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Madrid, Spain - February, 12th, 2007 - Basasoft, S.L.

Basasoft announces that after a year of development, BasaOne 2.5 is nearing the end of its development cycle. This new version will be released by the end of march and include many new features that enhance this Web Application Development tool even more.

The list of new features include new controls, the ability to create new controls on the fly via code, additional methods for some controls, improved commands and ways for building and updating the application and database and a method for importing text files into database tables. BasaOne, 2.5 also adds some bug-fixes to improve the stability of this release.

BasaOne License Keys are currently available for a reduced promotional price of Euro 50 (aprox. US$ 65) down from Euro 99 until the end of february. BasaOne 2.5 will be a free update for current customers.

BasaOne Website:

<http://www.basasoft.com/basaone.php>

BasaOne key features:

<http://www.basasoft.com/overview.php>

BasaOne details and images:

<http://www.basasoft.com/details.php>

Basasoft is committed to development of great Macintosh software that helps in the develoment of Mac & Web applications.

For further information contact

Alex Fischer

00 34 91 745 99 75

###

Link To Article: <https://prmac.com/release-id-96.htm>
