

Bobble Boxers 1.1 for iPhone Offers Multi-Player Fun and Functionality

Published on 12/30/09

Spiked Bat Productions Inc. today released Bobble Boxers 1.1 for iPhone and iPod Touch users. The game places hilarious bobble head characters with their own special fighting moves into boxing matches against each other or human players. The app's unique multi-player functionality allows users to pit their chosen Bobble Boxer against another player's for hours of addictive fun. Each one has their own special signature fighting moves to use during a bout.

Waretown, NJ - Announcing that Spiked Bat Productions Inc., the developers of Bobble Boxers, has released the latest version of their highly addictive game app. The game places hilarious bobble head characters with their own special fighting moves into boxing matches against each other or human players. The app's unique multi-player functionality allows users to pit their chosen Bobble Boxer against another player's for hours of addictive fun.

There is a line up of funny bobble heads for players to choose from. Each one has their own special signature fighting moves to use during a bout, such as a windmill punch or martial arts maneuver. When one of the Bobble Boxers takes a punch, their head springs around wildly, just like a real bobble head doll.

The Bobble Boxers are adorably unique. Users can select their favorite from: Hottie Nottie, Vikingo, Cutie Pie, Kickback Kid, Bling Bling, Choco and Bebe.

Developers are currently running a contest for new character suggestions. Anyone interested in participating can follow the link listed or from the website.

While other apps of this type show players their backs while fighting opponents head-on, Bobble Boxers has a side scrolling interface so users can see all the action from both fighters. The game has the feel of a street fight yet has boxing rules.

Parents don't have to worry about letting their kids play Bobble Boxers, as developers created the app for all ages. Hector Agosto, CEO and Lead Creative Director of Spiked Bat Productions, says Bobble Boxers is safe for children while still providing a lot of fun for adults, "We made our game clean enough for kids to play and tough enough for fighter and boxing enthusiasts to have fun with and be challenged"

Players can fight the Bobble Boxers themselves, challenge friends using the unique multi-player feature or have the Bobble Boxers fight each other. Regardless of how the game is played, the result is hilarious.

Features:

- * Hilarious characters and game play
- * Multiple line up of Bobble Boxers to chose from
- * Multi-player function for playing with friends
- * Watch two random bobble head boxers fight each other
- * Each bobble head character has its own special fight moves

Bobble Boxers is one the most hilarious game apps available. The addition of the multi-player function ensures that players can share the fun with others while beating all the bobbles for the championship.
