San Francisco, California - Independent developer Paul Masson is proud to announce the release of Word Trainer 1.0, a score-increasing app for the iPhone and iPod Touch. Learn the all-important two- and three-letter word combinations valid in standard word board games for U.S. or international play with this fun and relaxing approach.

The app operates in two valuable modes. In flash card mode, the player is shown a random two or three letter combination drawn from a fresh bag of tiles, and answers questions as to whether the combination is a valid play and can be extended by adding an "s". Valid word definitions are optionally shown to solidify memorization, and the number of correct answers totals automatically as a percentage of right responses.

The second mode offers study of the words in list format, with a standard iPhone index interface to jump to each letter in the alphabetized list.

Features:

- * Customization of interface appearance
- * A dozen different tile wood types and any background color
- * Optional offensive words of U.S. tournament play
- * Optional SOWPODS list of international tournament play
